Spencer Inquiry Opens In Secret

OTTAWA (CP)—What's good enough for Mr. Justice Wabash apparently is good enough for Mr. Justice Daulton Wells.

And what's good enough for both of them is unlikely to satisfy those who would be titillated by "open-court" revelations of Canadian security matters.

The inquiries are into the George Meisner case and the alleged espionage activities of the late George Victor Spencer.

And in both cases, opening hearings were held in secret and with an apparent desire for as little fanfare as possible.

Mr. Justice Daulton Wells of the Ontario Appeal Court opened his inquiry into the sex-and-security Meisner case a week ago and immediately ran into criticism from Opposition Leader Diefenderfer and former justice minister David Fulton that they were not justified in advance.

Mr. Justice Daulton Wells of the Ontario Appeal Court opened his inquiry into the Spencer case Wednesday night

Dupuis Expresses Shock At Role As Messenger

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Yvon Dupuis said Wednesday he was "shocked" to learn he had been used in 1961 as a vehicle to transfer money from one person to another in connection with a bid for a race-track permit in his riding of St. Jean-Baptiste-Naperville.

Mr. Dupuis, a former minister without portfolio in the Pearson cabinet, was testifying in his own defence on a charge of influence peddling.

He said it was not until 1964 that he learned of a financial transaction between Roch Deslauriers, attempting to obtain a provincial permit to operate the track, and the late Paul Earl, then Quebec revenue minister.

Under examination by his lawyer Wednesday, Mr. Dupuis said he recalled Mr. Deslauriers, a chiropractor of St. John's, Que., saying to him in 1964: "Don't you remember the time I had you go to Ottawa with documents to be given to Mr. Earl to prove my solvency? Well then, Mr. Earl told me to put the money in a brown envelope."

The Crown accuses Mr. Dupuis of accepting $10,000 from Mr. Deslauriers to intercede with the Quebec government to get the race-track franchise.

Mr. Dupuis acknowledged that he signed two statements he made to the RCMP Jan. 9, 1965, and Jan. 20, 1965.

In the first statement he said Premier Lesage encouraged him to take an interest in the project, adding that he never received any money in connection with the affair.

In the second statement, he mentioned meetings with Mr. Lesage, Mr. Earl, and Bernard Pinard, then provincial roads

Portugal Takes Over Control Of Controversial Merchantman

BEIRA, Mozambique (Reuters)—Portuguese officials today took over control of the Greek-owned tanker Ioanna V, lying alongside a dock here with a cargo of oil apparently destined for Rhodesia.

The move followed Panama's cancellation of the ship's registration earlier this week.

The Ioanna and another Greek-owned oil tanker, the Manuela, now berthed at Durban, South Africa, have been centred in a crisis involving Britain's rebellious colony of Rhodesia, which declared independence unilaterally Nov. 11.

Britain applied economic sanctions against white-ruled Rhodesia for the independence step — which Britain considers illegal. As a result of a United Nations blockade, no oil has passed along the pipeline from a Portuguese Mozambique port to Rhodesia's Umtali re-

U.K. Digging Out After Big Snow

LONDON (Reuters)—Snow-plows were digging for stranded vehicles today as Britain was hit by heavy snowfalls and blizzards.

Fourteen countries in southern England and Wales were hit by the snow.

Springtime has yet to get off the ground.

London's weather observatory said the freeze-up was coming from an extremely rare flow of air from the North Pole, Siberia and north Russia.

Snowdrifts piled up in Denmark and most of Sweden suffered icy conditions. Public transport in parts of western Europe ground toward a standstill as snowdrifts blocked highways and railroads.

Life Terms For Slayers Of Malcolm X

NEW YORK (AP)—The three convicted slayers of black nationalist leader Malcolm X were sentenced Thursday to life terms in prison.

Mrs. Betty Shabazz, Malcolm's widow, was present when the three of the defendants were sentenced in a heavily-guarded courtroom.

The three will be eligible for parole after 30 years and eight months.

Normal 3X Butler, 27, and Thomas 15X Johnson, 30, both of the Bronx, and Talmadge (Thomas Hagan) Hayer, 24, of Paterson, N.J., were found guilty by a jury of three women and nine men March 11.

Malcolm X, a defector from the Black Muslim sect, was cut down by shotgun and pistol fire as he stood before 400 of his followers in a Manhattan ballroom Feb. 21, 1965.

Unemployment Totals Reduced From Mid-March 1964 Totals

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment at mid-March dropped to 341,000 from 356,000 in February and 387,000 in March of last year. It was reported today.

to 4.8 per cent of the labor force, compared to five per cent in February. Seasonally adjusted, it was 3.3 per cent compared to 3.5 in the previous month.

An estimated 35,000 new jobs turned up during the month due to a seasonal expansion in non-farm industries, but the labor force also increased by 40,000.

A joint report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the immigration department said the number at work in March was 300,000 higher than in March of last year.

The job picture in brief (estimates in thousands):

| | Mar. Feb. Mar. |
|-------------|-------------------|
| Labor force | 7,162 7,122 6,908 |
| Employed | 6,821 6,766 6,521 |
| Unemployed | 341 356 387 |

Estimates are based on a survey of 35,000 households in the week ended March 19.

"During the last few months there has been a noticeable strengthening in employment for both men and women," the report said. "The number of employed men increased by 167,000, or 3.6 per cent, over the year. The number of employed women was 133,000, or 6.9 per cent, higher than a year earlier."

For the last 10 years the March-to-March gain in total employment has been 2.5 per cent. This time it was 4.6 per cent, chiefly due to sharp gains in the service and construction sectors of industry.

DIKES ARE HOLDING

Nervousness In The Flood Line

ST. JEAN BAPTISTE, Man. (CP)—Dike building has given way to tension — filled dike watching in southern Manitoba with attention focused on this tiny community at the junction of the flooding Plum and Red rivers.

Dikes were holding Wednesday thanks to constant surveillance by military patrols and instant reaction by about 500 flood fighters to frequent reports of trouble along the mile of dike that holds back water 15 feet deep, keeping most of the town dry.

"We're optimistic, we think we've got it licked," said George Bonney, flood co-ordinator, "and it's a good feeling."

His confidence stems from the prediction that the Red was expected to crest by today with the water about six inches from the top of the soggy dikes. Barring strong winds, which could whip waves over the top, or rain, Bonney says he thinks the dikes will hold.

Itain a howler moved into Manitoba Wednesday night but the weather office said significant amounts were not expected over the Red River Valley.

Volunteers and soldiers were still working Wednesday reinforcing the dikes against a huge lake that encircles the town. The job was complicated because most work had to be done by hand since dikes are not wide enough to support land vehicles.

Three boats were lost Wednesday, sinking under loads of sandbags being ferried to weakened north and west sections of the dike.

These were the sections that caused concern Sunday when they started leaking. About 100 men from the Gimli Air Force Base were flown in to relieve soldiers who had been working around the clock.

The alarm didn't see a bed for 32 hours but now the men are working shifts of eight hours on duty and 16 off.

Regular shifts are also employed at Emerson, 20 miles south of here and 60 miles south of Winnipeg, and at Morris, six miles to the north, where the dike level is two-to-three feet higher than the flood waters.

The crest passed Emerson Tuesday night and was expected to reach Morris at almost the same time as St. Jean. Morris and Emerson dikes are holding but constant patrolling is required to watch for breaks and seepage. The river dropped three inches at Emerson Wednesday.

Wave action on a railway tracks brought a halt Wednesday in passenger trains to Emerson. Dikes there hold back up to 14 feet of water.

Violence Erupts; Tension Mounts In Picket Lines

SECOND CHANCE WASN'T ENOUGH

FERNDALE, Mich. (AP)—Five-year-old James Lutherland and his four-year-old neighbor, Mark Stone, were playing Wednesday beside a busy street.

Suddenly, both boys darted into the street. There was a screech of tires as an oncoming driver managed to stop his car in time.

The unidentified motorist got out of his car, grabbed the boys and scooped them for running into the street. Then he drove away.

Moments later, witnesses said, the boys ran into the street again. This time, both were struck and killed by a second car.

Extra Policemen Called In As 10,000 Men Stay Out

MONTREAL (CP)—Brief violence erupted at one downtown building site today and tension was evident at others as Montreal's multi-project construction industry was slowed by a strike by 10,000 of 16,000 men employed at various sites across Montreal island.

The 10,000 strikers are members of the Confederation of National Trade Unions (CNTU). Some strikers voted to strike Tuesday night, while the balance of the workers belong to unions affiliated with the Quebec Federation of Labor (CLC).

Trouble broke out at the site of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Chateau Champlain hotel which is being erected opposite downtown Windsor Station.

A truck was overturned at the site and fist fights broke out between the CNTU pickets and CLC workers attempting to cross picket lines.

Kidnap Tried Reds Insist

TOKYO (Reuters)—Russian claims that the United States attempted to kidnap a Soviet diplomat here were touched off by a brawl among two American tourists, a Colombian businessman and the Russian, Japanese sources said today.

The Japanese foreign ministry said earlier in the day that the Soviet embassy here, involved in a fight with three others at his apartment building here March 11.

A Russian note delivered to the U.S. embassy in Moscow charged the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency tried to kidnap the diplomat.

In Washington, the state department said it is studying the note.

Japanese sources said the two Americans met the Colombian, a resident of Tokyo, casually in a bar. Late in the evening the businessman took the tourists to an apartment building in a fashionable residential area where he and Pourouky live.

But the sources said it was not clear how the three met Pokrovsky or how the fight broke out. It was thought the Russian grew nervous of the three men, who had been drinking, and misunderstood their intentions.

The sources said Pokrovsky was joined by "more than two" other Russians in an ensuing brawl. A passing Japanese, called the police.

Police Arrive

About a dozen police cars arrived on the scene and all but the pickets were told to keep moving.

However, a construction superintendent at the job site said later that about 60 per cent of the employees had moved through the lines and started work.

The situation was also tense early today around the CNL Place Bonaventure complex, where members of the two rival unions faced each other.

Trouble was avoided when plumbers and electricians went in the back way. They signed new contracts with the construction industry two weeks ago.

Meanwhile, there appeared to be an immediate chance of talks between the striking CNTU and the companies.

The two sides have talked since the CNTU rejected a contract at a mass meeting Tuesday night. The Montreal Construction Association, representing management, said the contract offer would make Montreal construction workers the highest paid in Canada.

At the Tuesday night meeting, the 2,500 CNTU members present rejected the terms of a pro-

Buddhists In Orderly Protest Against Saigon Government

SAIGON (CP)—More than 20,000 Buddhists staged an orderly march through Saigon today in a demonstration against the ruling military junta despite a government pledge earlier in the day promising elections within five months.

Buddhist leaders planned the massive demonstration to underline their demands for elections for a return to civilian rule.

Following today's government concession, the Buddhist objective appeared to be dramatic changes in the interim government.

One leading Buddhist said some members of the present government, whom he declined to name, would try to stop progress toward democracy.

Senior monks appealed to the marchers to avoid violence and asked them to support the government announcement of this morning.

There were some indications earlier the demonstration might be called off following major concessions by the military government during the national political conference here.

However the "hard line" wing of the Buddhist hierarchy appeared to have overruled the moderates and seemed pressing now for the resignation of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky or at least immediate drastic changes in the government.

At this morning's conference senior the military junta virtually bowed to all demands of its Buddhist opponents and pledged elections for a change to civilian rule within three to five months.

A Buddhist leader said the election pledge, signed into a decree by the government, "satisfied our main demands."

Air Vice-Marshal Ky offered to step down immediately as premier if that was what the country wanted.

NO DECISION

The cabinet spent a good deal of time considering a report on the Stephen Truscott case prepared by Solicitor-General Pennell but reached no decision on it, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

"We are not going to rush into a decision on a matter of this importance," the prime minister said, "but a decision would be reached as soon as possible."

'Value-Added' Tax Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Committee for Economic Development proposed Wednesday night that a "value-added" tax be adopted as an immediate revenue-raiser and an eventual substitute for part of the corporation tax.

The corporation tax should be cut to 38 per cent from 48 per cent "as soon as revenue conditions permit," the CED report said. The 38 per cent rate was in effect before the Korean conflict.

Several members of the privately supported research organization of business men, economists and educationalists dissented from the findings. One called the value-added tax "a general federal excise, which would tend to raise prices."

No U.K. Troops To Asia War

LONDON (Reuters)—A British foreign office spokesman today "made clear" there "is no question of Britain sending any military forces to South Vietnam."

The spokesman, answering questions at a press conference, said Britain as co-chairman of the 1964 Geneva conference on Indochina is in a special position and this "precludes us from sending forces to Vietnam."

He was asked to comment on press reports that now that Britain's general election is past the United States might request a token British force in Viet Nam.

Machine Guns Rattle Overnight As IRA Keeps Up Mischief

DUBLIN (AP)—Extra police were sent into County Kilkenny today to search for Irish Republican extremists who set off explosions at two telephone installations and disrupted services.

The blasts cut telephone connections between Dublin and Waterford and between Waterford and Cork. Machine-gun fire followed the explosion at the automatic telephone station at Kilmacow, where police believed a plastic explosive was used.

The other blast damaged the main telephone cable at Ballykeane, four miles away. The area is the home of Richard B. Remembrance.

Civil guards said Ballykeane district Wednesday night. IRA leaflets were found in the damaged telephone building.

In Dublin, members of the Gaelic organization Mianach (Courage), in the fourth day of a week's hunger strike in protest against the 50th anniversary celebration of the 1916 Easter rising against British rule, continued picketing parliament and the Parnell Square of Remembrance.

Iraq President Killed In Crash Of Light Plane

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref of Iraq, who survived repeated violent political upheavals in the last eight years, has been killed in a plane crash, Baghdad Radio announced today.

The Iraqi radio said Interior Minister Maj.-Gen. Abdul Latif Darraj and Industry Minister Mustafa Abdulrahman also were killed in the crash near the Persian Gulf port of Basra. A four-engine jet was blamed.

Premier Abdel Rahman Bazzaz will be acting president until the council of ministers and the national defense council elect Aref's successor within a week, the broadcast said.

The council are composed mostly of ranking army officers. Aref's brother, Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, is chief of staff of the army and had been considered a possible successor to the presidency.

FIGHT FOR POWER
Diplomatic observers in London said Aref's death seemed likely to set off furious political fighting, and perhaps a power struggle over the succession. Baghdad radio said a curfew had been proclaimed from noon today on.

Douglas Agrees To Endorse Viet Cong Aid Organization

VANCOUVER (CP) — T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said Wednesday he has agreed to be sponsor of a group organized to send medical aid to the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Mr. Douglas said at a press conference in Vancouver that the group would be a neutral body and he would endorse the Canadian aid for Viet Nam group refused medical aid for civilians in the area controlled by the Saigon government.

Later he said he had checked with the group's chairman, Dr. A. M. Inglis of Vancouver, and was assured this was not the case.

Need For Big Pipelines Questioned At Annual Meet

TORONTO (CP) — The president of Interprovincial Pipeline Co. questioned Wednesday the need for big pipelines to carry oil and gas across provincial boundaries to submit to Parliament plans involving changes in corporate structure and at reasonable tariffs—and T. S. Johnston was commenting at the shareholders' annual meeting on a government delay in approving a five- or six-stock split endorsed by shareholders in July, 1965.

Interprovincial comes under a federal act requiring all companies that carry oil or gas across provincial boundaries to be subject to federal regulation. "The National Energy Board supervises our capital expendi-of his government were killed. Kassem became premier and Aref deputy premier, interior minister and commander of the army. The two soon split over Aref's advocacy of a merger with the U.A.R. Aref signed a military co-operation pact with Nasser, but Kassem ousted him before it could be implemented. In October, 1956, Kassem sent Aref to Bonn as Iraq's ambassador to West Germany. Within a month, Aref returned to Baghdad and Kassem had him arrested.

Convicted of plotting to overthrow Kassem, Aref was sentenced to death, but Kassem commuted the sentence to life imprisonment. He freed Aref from prison in 1961 but kept him confined to his home. The military overthrew and executed Kassem in February, 1963, and installed the Baath (Arab Socialist) party in power. Aref was asked to become a figurehead president. Nine months later he staged his own coup and took over actual power.

LSD-Maker Quits Production

HANOVER, N.J. (AP) — Sandoz Pharmaceuticals, the United States' only licensed distributor of LSD, has ceased the production of the hallucinatory drug in the U.S. It was learned Wednesday.

LSD, or lysergic acid diethylamide, is produced by the company's parent concern, Sandoz Ltd., in Switzerland.

The Daily Advance of Dover, N.J., in a copyrighted story, says distribution was halted Monday.

The newspaper says the company had informed the Federal Food and Drug Administration in Washington that it is withdrawing its investigational drug application held by the FDA because of "unforeseen public reaction."

In Washington, Paul Schuchman, public information officer for the FDA, said the agency had not put pressure on Sandoz to stop selling LSD.

LSD has been under fire recently. It was reported to have been involved in the recent murder of a 56-year-old school teacher in New York City.

The woman's son - in - law, charged with the slaying, allegedly told police he had been "flying" for three days on LSD.

Rules Irk East Farmers

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A provincial government regulation requiring farmers to use only certified potato seed this spring has met mixed reaction from Prince Edward Island growers.

The regulation, in existence since 1951 but never enforced, is aimed at wiping out increasing amounts of disease and having island farmers concentrate on high-quality seed potatoes, a market they have never been challenged in.

Main opponents to the policy are growers who say they have spent years developing disease-free, non-certified potatoes and fear their crop may be diseased if they purchase certified seed from another grower.

"I had dug rot on my farm but got rid of it," said Irving Toombs, who has been planting non-certified seed at his Rustico farm for several years. "Why should I be required to go outside my farm to purchase certified seed when I have no assurance it won't be free from disease?"

PRICE TOO HIGH
Other island farmers criticize the government for enforcing the regulation this year because 51 farms were given permission by Agricultural Minister Andrew MacRae to plant non-certified seed in 1965. They argue they have to certified seed and say other farmers are asking too high a price for it.

"If they can't afford to buy certified seed I can't see how they can afford to farm at all," said Mr. MacRae. "They have no argument. We don't want to create a hardship for anyone but we have to protect our industry."

Potato growers account for more than half of the total farm cash income in P.E.I. Farm income reached a high of $41,100,000 in 1965, compared with $32,900,000 in 1964 and $25,700,000 in 1963.

Of the province's 42,000 acres of potatoes planted in 1965, about 18,000 acres were non-

COMMONWEALTH TRUST APPOINTS NEW DIRECTORS

Three new directors were elected to the board of Commonwealth Trust Company at the annual meeting in Vancouver. They are Mr. Sydney W. Bell, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade and general manager of Fred West & Sons Ltd.; Alex Forst, Revo of West Vancouver; and Mr. Jim Pattison, president of Jim Pattison Ltd.

Mr. A. G. Duncan Cruik, chairman and president of Commonwealth Trust, said the election of these active, community-minded businessmen reflects Commonwealth's desire to provide the finest financial service to the thousands of people who use the company's savings, loan and trust facilities.

Commonwealth Trust, a Vancouver-based company, now operates nine branches in British Columbia and is the fastest-growing trust company in Canada.

COURSE SET FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA CUP RACE

This is the course to be run by the British Columbia Cup Unlimited Hydroplane Race Association at Kelowna July 18 to 21. Of 23 unlimited hydroplanes in the world, 18 or 19 are expected to take part in the race. The boats will come to Kelowna directly from the Gold Cup race on the Detroit River. Thousands of people are expected to attend. The boats are expected to reach a speed of about 100 m.p.h. on the back stretch of the course. The world record for the boats is slightly more than 200 m.p.h. Prior to the final heats, the boats will practice on the lake for one week, getting the feel of the turns and taking the "bug" out of the local mechanics. The pit area is between the CPR docks and the Kelowna Yacht Club. The budget for the race is expected to be between $40,000 and $50,000. This is planned as one of the top two major unlimited races in the world.

Three Kelowna men were fined at magistrate's court today when they appeared on charges under the Motor Vehicle Act.

Robert Caley pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and was fined $25 or 10 days.

Ernest E. Cawston pleaded guilty to a charge of changing traffic lanes when unsafe to do so and was fined $25 or seven days in jail.

Gerald Menu pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign and was fined $15 or seven days in jail.

Alex Kern, Kelowna, pleaded not guilty to a charge of making a false statement to a police officer and a charge of driving while under suspension.

He was remanded to May 10 for trial.

Leslie Grant, Calgary, pleaded not guilty to a charge of uttering a forged cheque and was remanded to April 22 for sentence.

The court was told the man had uttered forged cheques totalling more than $500, while on a trip from Calgary to Kelowna.

He had been arrested for intoxication and when he gave a name which sounded to police like it was false, his room in a Kelowna hotel was searched.

Cancer Campaign Under Way Today

The 1966 Kelowna and district cancer campaign began this week with an objective of $9,000.

L. L. Kerry, campaign chairman, said today.

In 1965 a total of $9,200 was collected. The door-to-door canvass will be made by 250 canvassers, in an area from Ellison District to Westbank. A total of $750 has been collected to date.

The money collected is sent to headquarters in Vancouver to carry on a program of research and public education. Research facilities are carried out in B.C. at the University of British Columbia and at the B.C. Cancer Institute in Vancouver.

Provincial campaign proceeds will be used to help purchase a $7,000 electron microscope.

Checks down

In 1965 in Kelowna 312 patients were examined for cancer, a reduction of 43 from the previous year. There were 17 new patients seen and cancer was confirmed in 16 cases. One case was awaiting diagnosis.

The 16 confirmed cases are an increase of six from 1965. Dr. G. M. Crawford and Dr. G. C. Goodman of the B.C. Cancer Institute in Vancouver, visited the Okanagan 10 times in 1965 to conduct cancer clinics in the Pentiction and Kelowna General Hospitals.

C. R. Bull, Okanagan Mission, is in charge of canvassing the city's industrial section. William Howe, R. J. Bennett and R. P. McLennan will call on firms on Bernard Ave.

Other team captains include Mrs. C. E. Davis, Mission Creek area; Mrs. J. G. Gigg, North end; Mrs. Henry Cundy, Clement Ave. to Bernard Ave.

Also Christopher Turton, South Kelowna, Charles dePuyler, East Kelowna; Mrs. Helmut Hemmerling, North Glenmore; Mrs. Lorne Mitchell, Glenmore; Robert H. McKee, Okanagan Mission; Albert Olafson, Shops Capri and the Canadian Order of Foresters, Glenmore.

One Less Test For Students

Students in B.C. schools may have one less set of exams to worry about during the school year.

A resolution to this effect was passed Wednesday at the 44th annual convention of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation being held in Kelowna, Tuesday to Friday.

Delegates and PTA representatives voted 267 to 182 in favor of reducing the number of report cards issued each school year to three from the four now issued, by eliminating fall examinations.

A resolution on sex education called for an enlarged course on family living to begin at the elementary level, which would include social aspects and parents' responsibilities. A committee will be set up later to decide how the program should be carried out.

Carried unanimously was a resolution to urge the B.C. department of highways "to investigate and adopt means by which children can cross highways more safely."

Delegates passed a resolution to urge the department of education to use school aides to relieve teachers of many non-professional tasks, such as playground supervision, thus allowing teachers to spend more time with teaching duties.

A resolution was carried unanimously urging the government to establish beds for adoptees and children in approved private community facilities so they may receive adequate psychiatric treatment.

Also carried by a large majority was a resolution calling for an extension of child welfare resources of foster and adoption homes, brought about by the increase in unmarried mothers without a corresponding increase in adoption.

The resolution said there is a need for subsidized foster homes where foster parents are paid salaries and for "cottage-type" permanent homes in municipalities and small communities in B.C., where children could have a greater feeling of permanency.

It urged the government to support in principle the establishment of neighborhood homes and to encourage municipalities to help establish them and provide on a cost-sharing basis services needed to staff them adequately.

Another resolution passed urged the department of education to give substantial assistance to the B.C. Educational Research Council "with no strings attached."

The resolution was passed with the understanding that "with no strings attached" could be deleted if thought advisable.

Dr. W. J. Hartwick, executive director of the research council at the University of British Columbia, spoke to delegates Wednesday on work done by the council. He said the council does not receive any funds from the government.

The federation called on the government to establish day care services for children of working mothers and widowers in other parts of the province as well as in the Greater Vancouver area.

Delegates approved a resolution asking the government to establish a comprehensive child care training program for adults on charge of homes established for children.

The final resolution dealt with Wednesday's called for elimination of late certificates for students under 15 years of age as required by B.C. Hydro.

Two resolutions were tabled to Friday. One called for a revision of the formula for government grants to meet operating expenses in school districts. The second asked for a revision of standard basic salary scale as used by the government. This would delay voting until the address to the convention tonight by education Minister L. R. Peterson.

Controlled Storage Apples Continuing To Leave Valley

Apples in controlled atmosphere storage in the Kelowna Westbank area were reduced by 97,886 boxes during March.

On April 1, there remained in CA storage 17,225 boxes and in cold storage an additional 22,661 boxes. Cold storage apples were reduced by 19,591 boxes from March 1.

There are no apples in common storage in this area and no pears, a report from the fruit and vegetable division of the department of agriculture in Kelowna, said today.

Potatoes in the Kelowna area were reduced by 14 hundredweight to 97 hundredweight on April 1. Onions now stand at 825 bushels, down 2,255 in one month. There are 72 bushels of carrots, 87 of cabbage and 96 crates of celery in storage.

Apples in cold storage in the Okanagan, Woodside, Westbank, Okanagan Centre area, are almost depleted with only 25 boxes in storage April 1, a reduction of 23,538 boxes in one month.

The same area has 16,082 boxes of apples in CA storage, unchanged from March 1. There are no vegetables in storage in this area.

Okanagan totals for fruit in storage now stand at $0.107 boxes of apples in CA storage, 111,362 in cold storage and 504 boxes in common storage. Only four boxes of pears remain in storage, all in the Lytton area.

Vegetable totals on April 1 included 29,275 hundredweight of potatoes, 3,162 bushels of onions, 307 of carrots and 362 of cabbage. Celery totals 226 crates.

Fruit totals for the province now stand at $0.107 boxes of apples in CA, 175,595 in cold and 15,774 boxes in common storage. Pears total 1,278 boxes, mostly at the coast.

Provincial vegetable totals include 199,464 hundredweight of potatoes, 17,761 bushels of onions, 10,486 of carrots and 5,633 bushels of cabbage. Celery totals 2,644 crates.

Albert Robinson Funeral Held

Funeral service was held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Thursday for Albert Robinson, 66, of Kelowna.

Mr. Robinson was born and educated in London, where he worked for many years as a craftsman in sports equipment. He came to Canada in 1956 to live in Kelowna.

He is survived by his only daughter, Mrs. Percy Perkins, in Brentwood. His wife died in 1956.

Pallbearers were E. Greenaway, Lloyd Green, Thomas Gregory, Harold Johnston, Donald McKay and Frank Griffin.

Rev. Louis McCurdy officiated and burial was in Kelowna Cemetery.

Day's Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.

Flames Finish Powder Scare

Five jars of dynamite found on the Westbank Indian reserve have been burned.

The dynamite, found near a cabin on the reserve, lay there for a week while officials decided what to do with it.

The Kelowna RCMP contacted the Vernon army camp and asked for a demolition team to destroy it. Officials at the camp refused, saying it was a civilian matter.

The RCMP then contacted the department of highways, which agreed to dispose of the powder. Tuesday morning, a demolition team removed the powder to a near-by gravel pit and burned it. He considered it too dangerous to detonate. The powder was crystallized and burned without danger.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

With people like Millard Foster of Pentiction settling in our Valley, it won't be long before the cultural reputation of the Okanagan will become an actual magnet well in keeping with the famous climate.

More and more, big business looks beyond the physical advantages of a community before expanding outside large urban areas. Bright young executives are demanding and getting equal opportunities for their children wherever they must go.

It is therefore not astonishing that newcomers to the Valley point out that they chose a locality because of a music teacher, a dancing teacher or a library. The list is legion and it is synonymous that such can be responsible for the more gifted teachers applying to our school districts when spring application time comes around.

Last year after Sound of Music I warned the Valley that it would have to pull up its various "sock" to stay in company with Light Opera of Pentiction. The group calls itself L.O.O.P. and with its second production - Brigadoon - is well on its way to making musical history.

Wednesday night was the second time for tears for this column. As I told the company after the last curtain fell that are the only ones in the Valley who can make me cry. And that in company with the Royal Ballet and its Swan Lake.

Of this I am not ashamed since my emotions are very much at the core of my job as a critic. It is this emotional response that tells me when I have been taken out of my own world into one of fantasy or been made aware of the reality in what is before me.

L.O.O.P.'s Brigadoon gave me both Wednesday night. Certainly there were the usual fluffs as to scenery and props with the odd miscue. But by Saturday these little matters should be well under control.

Lighting and sets and costumes - not enough color contrast, are the weak links here. Geoff Allington is a fine Mr. Landie. He might do well to forego the stage manager's role whenever he wishes to take a part. As Mr. Landie he gave us the "surreal" in the character and every word was beautifully projected without forcing or undue loudness.

When one realizes that the company played without actual conducting from its director who played the part of Jeff we must marvel at the exactness of the co-ordination of the actors. There is no doubt that pianist Lynn Hendry was to a great extent responsible as she was a one-man orchestra; setting pace and mood with fantastic exactitude and certainty.

These people all sing, as I said before, with good voice production and beautiful tone quality. Their songs are not just "sung", they are part of a fine characterization in every way with the meaning of the lyrics dynamically projected on the melodic line. This last is so unusual even in professional companies that one must give recognition to the standard of Mr. Foster's professional coaching.

I think I have never been as touched as I was by the singing of young Rod Campbell as Charlie - his Come to Me, Mend to Me" with lovely Margaret Kendrick is unforgettable. And George Warne as Tommy is a find and a welcome addition to Valley musical circles. Carol McGibney as Fiona was lovely of voice and perfectly in character.

The dancing was remarkable in that Miss Lloyd had no male dancers to work with except for Mike Riley as Harry who learned his sword dance in six weeks. Denise O'Brien as Maggie Anderson gave the "keening" funeral dance with breathtaking and mature dramatic tensions. Again another fine production for Canadian School of The Ballet. I wonder if the Valley truly appreciates what it has in Miss Lloyd and Mrs. Farrally? They could have settled and been welcome any place in Canada.

This Brigadoon was a musical experience I shall keep in my aural album of memories. Thank you L.O.O.P. And I hope Kelowna music lovers will make the Theatre Reciprocity I wrote about in my last column, a reality. I know I am going again.

City Concert Date Nears

The Kelowna and District Junior Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday it is sponsoring the Breath of Scotland group in a concert at Memorial Arena, April 22.

The concert will feature such stars as Dennis Clancy, Will Starr, Johnny Victory, Irv Catey, Irene Campbell and Jimmy Fletcher. The concert runs about two and a half hours.

Proceeds of the show will be donated to the R. P. Walrod Memorial scholarship foundation. The foundation was set up to honor Mr. Walrod for his many contributions to Kelowna and the Okanagan. The former B.C. Tree Fruit Ltd. general manager died in February.

C. E. M. Houghton Rites Conducted

Funeral service was held Monday from Day's Chapel of Remembrance for Charles Earle McClure Houghton, 63, who died recently.

Rev. E. A. Domeij officiated and burial was in Kelowna Cemetery.

Mr. Houghton was born in Deloraine, Man., in 1904. He went with his parents to Flint, Mich., when he was a small child and received his education there.

He married in 1930 and moved to Sylvan Lake, Alta., where he resided until 1945 when he moved to Winfield. He came to Kelowna in 1963.

Surviving Mr. Houghton is his wife, Hilda, one son, Robert, in Kelowna and one daughter, Gladys in Carstairs, Alta. Six grandchildren, three brothers and seven sisters also survive.

Day's Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.

Trail Woman PTA President

Mrs. Gordon Redgrave of Trail was elected president of the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation at the 44th annual convention being held in Kelowna.

She replaces Mrs. H. L. Steves of Richmond. Other officers elected include Mrs. A. B. Thompson, Victoria, first vice-president; Mrs. H. S. Wood, Burnaby, second vice-president; Mrs. Ernest May, Vancouver, third vice-president and Mrs. Harold Wehrich, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer. All offices were filled by acclamation.

Permit Needed For Firearms

All pistols, revolvers and automatic firearms must be registered with the RCMP.

A Kelowna RCMP officer said Wednesday he has heard several reports of Kelowna residents having such firearms in their homes - without having them registered.

He said it is a simple matter for people to bring the firearms into the police office and have them registered. They will not, in most cases, be licensed to carry the guns with them at all times, but can obtain a licence to carry pistols from their homes to a pistol target range.

The officer said anyone found with an unregistered firearm is liable to imprisonment up to two years upon indictment or six months and a $500 fine upon summary conviction.

Temperatures Start Climbing

Temperatures should continue to struggle upwards in the Okanagan Friday but mainly cloudy skies and showers are forecast.

Skies should be mainly cloudy today with some clearing tonight. Scattered showers are forecast for today.

The high in Kelowna Wednesday was 40 and the low Wednesday night 30. Temperatures on the same day a year ago were 51 and 44.

The low tonight and high Friday in Pentiction and Lytton 32 and 55; Kamloops 32 and 52; Cranbrook 25 and 50; Castlegar 30 and 55; Revelstoke 30 and 50.

Annie Bleile Funeral Held

Funeral service was held Monday for Mrs. Annie Bleile, 91, of Kelowna.

Mrs. Bleile was born in Russia in 1874 and came to Canada in 1906. She lived in Saskatchewan. In 1936 she came to Kelowna with her husband.

Surviving are four daughters, Katherine, Kelowna; Helen, Ruland; Bernadine, Bridgeport, Wash.; Lisabeth, Nipawin, Sask. and four sons, George, Calgary; Lambert, Dordland, Saskatchewan; Mike and Joe, Wilkie, Sask. Mr. Bleile died in 1956. Also surviving are 54 grandchildren, 106 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Jack Kaufmann, William Moore, Joseph Yochim, Clarence Kunz, Jack Knorr and Donald Knorr.

Day's Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.

Amelia Perrault Buried Monday

Funeral service was held Monday for Mrs. Amelia Perrault, 79, Kelowna.

The service was held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance with Rev. E. H. Birdall officiating.

Mrs. Perrault was born in Lavington in 1887 and came to Kelowna as a small child. She was a practical nurse during the early days of Kelowna and was married in Kamloops after the First World War.

She is survived by six daughters, May in Seattle; Helen in Monte Lake; Marjory in Vancouver; Viola in Merritt; Joan in Monte Lake and Wilma in Kelowna. Also surviving are 33 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. Mr. Perrault died in 1956.

Pallbearers were Leonard Butcher, John Mulholland, Russell Brower, Alden Thompson, Ted King, Norman Zvarich and Hugh Loutitt.

Burial was in Kelowna cemetery.

LITTLE, BIG GAME HUNTER

Kelly Kronko, 4, came all the way from Saskatoon to bag a big game animal, but finding none decided to settle for a photographer. Actually, that, he is the son of Pastor and Mrs. Elmer Kronko, visiting in Kelowna.

Wildlife Habitat Is A Precious Heritage

Nature's slow processes of evolution, adaptation and specialization have bequeathed to Canadians a rich heritage of wildlife even more varied than the beauty of our landscape. Wildlife has served us well in the past—through the era of early exploration and development and through the lean years of the pioneering society. Although fewer and fewer of us depend upon wildlife for food or for our livelihood, the recreation and enjoyment now provided by wildlife may be more important to the health and well-being of our society than any of its past contributions.

About 130,000 B.C. hunters and perhaps double that number of anglers, along with uncounted thousands of naturalists, place a very high value on wildlife. Almost everyone, whatever his interests, finds his life enriched and made more enjoyable by contact with nature. A rich variety and abundance of wildlife is surely an integral part of our national culture.

Even though we value wildlife as a renewable natural resource to be used and enjoyed by all, we are allowing many forms of wildlife to diminish to levels of scarcity and even to the brink of extinction. We would most certainly rebel against the kinds of wanton destruction which exterminated the passenger pigeon and the plains bison, but we do not seem to be fully aware of the more subtle and insidious agents of destruction which now threaten many species.

The very specialization which permits a large number of species of wildlife to live together without undue competition has also imposed limitations on the circumstances in which each can live successfully. Each species has its own special requirements for food, shelter from the elements, places to build nests or rear its young, and cover for escaping its enemies. Without areas which provide these essentials of suitable habitat, wildlife can not survive.

Conditions favoring wildlife have traditionally been provided by the natural communities of plants which occupied the land. We have had to modify these natural communities, of course, so that the land can better serve man's purposes. Excepting a few notable cases, these modifications have generally been detrimental to wildlife. Now, however, with increasing mechanization of the farming, forestry, road building, subdividing and other activities which use land, we seem to be bent on eliminating wildlife habitat altogether. Drain a marsh to make a few more acres of farmland of dubious productivity, or fill it to provide an industrial site or space for a subdivision; bulldoze or burn or cut a bushy fence-row; pollute a stream or denude its banks or allow it to become silted by eroding soil; overgraze the critical winter range of elk or mountain sheep, and the wildlife of those habitats will be gone as surely as if by intentional extermination.

To quote from a report by a prominent B.C. research biologist:

"The future of bighorn sheep in British Columbia, as in other parts of North America, is in jeopardy. A detailed research program is urgently required. . . . Continued die-offs at frequent intervals, coupled with over-exploitation of the range resource can only spell the ultimate end of these magnificent animals. In addition to the necessary research, it is mandatory for the continued survival of the Rocky Mountain Bighorn sheep in British Columbia, that the important winter ranges be set aside and managed for the production of mountain sheep."

This year the Canadian Wildlife Federation and its member organizations are devoting their annual Wildlife Week program to creating public awareness that we can retain our valuable wildlife only by preserving the habitat it requires. We join with them in their crusade, but we admonish them to continue their efforts well beyond this special week. It is going to take time and perseverance to develop the kind of national conscience needed to ensure preservation of the habitat on which the wildlife resource depends.

Many causes contribute to losses of wildlife habitat. Needless manuring of unused lands, whether it be farmlands, parks or roadsides, may be attributed to an affinity for neatness. In the light of its effect on wildlife, it might better be described as thoughtlessness. More often, destruction of wildlife habitat has an economic incentive, though the financial gains may be paltry and the total effect may be contrary to land and water conservation practices. Removal of windbreaks, pollution of water and drainage of natural wetlands are examples which come to mind. We fail to realize, it seems, that land can have value to the community when it is left in a natural state to conserve soil, water and wildlife.

When Crown lands are used in a manner which fails to preserve wildlife habitat, or when government programs or subsidies contribute to destruction of wildlife habitat, we are certainly justified in raising our voices to insist that such practices be stopped. But what of wildlife habitat on privately owned land? Have we any right to suggest that the owner of private land has obligations to the community? When land is treated as nothing more than a commodity to be wasted or conserved according to the whim of its current owner, surely the whole community, present and future, has a proprietary interest. We need a community ethic about land and all of its constituent parts—the soil, the water and their natural plant and animal associations—which will serve as a public conscience.

When land is used in the best interests of the community, one of its products would surely have to be an abundance and variety of wildlife worthy of our national character and in keeping with the standard of living we have come to expect.

Refinery Now 30 Years Old — But We Think It's New

BRAZI, Romania (CP). — There's an oil refinery at this town just outside Ploesti, 20 miles north of Bucharest, that was built in 1936.

"But we consider it new," says Victor Nica, the refinery's technical director. That's because most of its productive capacity has gone into operation since 1960, the beginning of Communist Romania's "great leap forward" in industrial expansion.

The refinery and a adjacent, newly developed petrochemical combine are glamorous symbols of this country's drive for economic growth and its determination not to be a party to Soviet-sponsored economic integration schemes for Eastern Europe. Hundreds of new factories have sprung up in different parts of the country and more are being pushed to completion every day.

Both chemicals and iron-and-steel — the big two of sophisticated modern industrial economies — are covered in the broad sweep of the strictly home-grown campaign.

Steel output is scheduled to climb to 6,300,000 tons by 1970, compared with 3,800,000 tons in 1965. Chemical industry production is scheduled to increase 2.3 times in the same period.

FINANCED AT HOME

At the Brazi refinery, a wide range of new products is being turned out as a result of an investment program totalling more than 1,000,000,000 Romanian lei in the last six years.

The official exchange rate on the lei is six to the American dollar but its actual buying power is closer to the rate tourists enjoy: 18 to the dollar. Even so, that the investment in this one installation works out to something like $55,000,000.

Asked whether the Soviet Union or any other foreign country had helped Romania to finance the expansion, Nica replied: "The funds came only from Romanian capital accumulation."

However, 15 to 20 per cent of the equipment was imported, mainly from Austria, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

"We bought where the best terms were offered," he said. New products which the glutted, fully-automated complex is turning out include high-octane gas, raw materials for synthetic fibres and synthetic rubber, and materials for Romania's new polyethylene industry. In addition, the range and quality of diesel oil production have been improved.

OUTPUT GOES AHEAD

Most of the refinery's production is for export, says Nica. Purchasing countries include France, West Germany, Russia, Italy, Sweden and Austria.

"We can't keep up with the demand from our foreign trade enterprises."

The factory thus brings in foreign exchange which Romania in turn can use to finance further purchases on the world market of goods and equipment needed to push on with the industrialization drive.

The oil industry is a field in which Romania feels eminently well qualified to run its own show, without dictation from any outside power. "After all," comments the technical director, "we've had more than 100 years of experience."

The centenary of the oil industry here was marked in 1939.

"We are able to export high-quality goods. We have built a refinery in India and helped the U.S.S.R. to build a second one there. Now we are building an installation in East Germany. Romanian oil technicians have served in a number of countries."

EXPORT BANNED

Though additional reserves have been discovered in Romanian Moldavia to augment the main reservoir in the Ploesti oilfields, and explorations are continuing, the country maintains a strict no-export policy on crude oil in the knowledge that its resources are not unlimited.

It is willing to export its oil products, but not its oil wealth. There are good economic reasons for this policy — the profit on oil products is many times greater than on oil itself.

At the same time a campaign is under way to make better use of the oil being consumed. For instance in the five-year plan now beginning, though output of the refinery will markedly increase, it is hoped that actual consumption of crude oil will remain stable.

Built three years before the Second World War, the original Brazi refinery was heavily damaged by bombs during the war, for most of which Romania fought on the side of the Germans.

The refinery was reconstructed after the war, and nationalized when the Communists took over in Romania.

In 1953, it consumed 1,000,000 tons of crude oil. Now it is consuming at four times that rate. The plant employs 8,700 workers.

OTTAWA REPORT

Once Ottawa Coachman Now Senate Speaker

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Ottawa-born Sydney Smith left the capital as a 14-year old boy in 1897. Exactly half a century later, he returned to his native city as the senator for his adopted home, Manitoba.

Today, as Monsieur le President of His Honor the Speaker, he presides over the debates in our Upper House of Parliament. Thus he played a prominent role in the ceremony of the official opening of our 27th Parliament on a cold January day—a far cry from his role as young coachman, clad in bearskin hat and bearskin cape, on a horse-drawn sleigh in which he taxed notables to and from the annual opening of Parliament on a winter's day in 1924.

Smiling talking with him in his suite in the Senate, I learned something of the success story which had carried him from Ottawa, through college at Regina, through 26 years as car-dealer and farmer at Gull Lake, Sask., and then in 1937 to Kamloops, before returning as an honored elder statesman to achieve the difficult double of prominence and popularity on Parliament Hill.

LONG MORNING DAY

Sydney Smith and his U.S.A.-born wife Marion live in an apartment in a converted old home just west of The Hill. Most mornings he walks the 1.5-mile yards to the Parliament Building, where he breakfasts in the top-floor restaurant in time to arrive at his office "as soon as the staff comes on duty." "I have never been so busy since I came to Ottawa," he explained. For Mr. Speaker has more to do, much more, than just preside over the debates for about three hours a day on three days a week.

He is, for instance, honorary co-chairman with Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons, of many international parliamentary associations. These include the Canada-U.S.A. Inter-parliamentary group, whose annual meeting in Washington next month calls for the settling of innumerable details such as the drafting of the agenda, the make-up of the Canadian delegation and its adequate pre-briefing; the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association in which, like the Canada-U.S.A. group, Senator Smith has long been an interested participant.

Then, too, his position brings him the responsibility of the top post in the Canadian delegation to the NATO Parliamentary annual meeting — involving trans-Atlantic military cooperation and, which interests him far more, the possibility of building NATO by implementing the far-sighted "Canada clause" to bring about what Mr. Pearson foresees as "an economic and perhaps a political commonwealth of the Western World" ensuring undreamed-of prosperity for its members and peace for the world.

SENATE'S LOW ESTEEM

Mrs. Smith as Parliament Hill's senior hostess finds her never idle life suddenly overfilled with not unimportant obligations such as entertaining the Governor-General and Madame Vanier to dinner in the Speaker's Chambers and socializing with foreign ambassadors — tasks which she regards as a real pleasure and which the Smiths together fulfill with their usual charm and bonhomie.

If Senator Smith has one regret, it is that the Red Chamber stands so low in public esteem and receives such little notice.

"Our House, by its very nature as a non-partisan deliberative chamber, does not inspire sensational headlines and newsworthy reports," he said to me.

He does not agree that the Senate needs changes in the method of appointment and term of service. But he does deplore the fact that so few Canadians who have achieved prominence in other fields are not willing — like Senator MacCormack and Labor Minister Jack Nicholson, he said, and one might add like Speaker Smith — to make the personal sacrifice to serve their country on Parliament Hill in later life.

SEEK CURE FOR TALA

HYDERABAD (AP). — Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao, Indian planning commission member, suggested newspaper reporters can cure officials of making repetitive speeches. Instead of reporting official statements, he said, they could print a simple notice: "Refer to the minister's speech published on a previous occasion."

TRAIN RURAL LEADERS

EDMONTON (CP). — The Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Agency (ARDA) is paying $15,000 over five years to the University of Alberta's extension department. The money will pay for leadership training for rural people and for training in community development.

April 14, 1906 . . . Earl Richard of Warwick was killed by the army of King Edward IV 405 years ago today—in 1471—at the battle of Barnet, near London.

Warwick had earned the name "kingmaker" because he helped Edward overthrow Henry IV and seize the English crown, only to change sides later and drive out Edward to restore Henry. Despite his lack of success as a general, Warwick was a good statesman and arranged trade agreements with France, England's traditional enemy. His daughter Anne married Richard of Gloucester, the supposed murderer of the princes in the Tower and later Richard III. 1945 — Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. 1952 — Windsor, Ont., was incorporated.

First World War Fifty years ago today—in 1916 — British aircraft bombed German positions near Arras. British guns bombarded German posts near Soissons; seven fresh German divisions reached the Verdun front.

Second World War Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941—Tobruk, encircled 100 miles behind the German lines, withstood a heavy attack, knocking out 15 Axis tanks and 22 aircraft. Italian units advanced in Albania; the RAF bombed Berlin for the seventh time in two weeks.

CANADA'S STORY

Montrealers Nearly Downed In Church

By BOB BOWMAN

This is the time of year when many parts of Canada can be damaged by spring floods. Even though the situation is better controlled now than it used to be, a combination of unusual weather factors can cause trouble. The Fraser River Valley of British Columbia was in great danger in 1918. Thousands of citizens helped save the situation by piling sandbags to make dikes.

In 1950 the Red River in Manitoba ran out of control and flooded 700 square miles. Damage amounted to more than $27,000,000.

Montreal was troubled by spring floods for years. The first casualty was a cemetery that had been established by Missionaries when he founded the city in 1642. The problem wasn't solved until 1901 when the federal government contributed money to build a stone retaining wall with drainage sluices in the danger areas.

It was on Sunday night, April 14, 1861, that Montreal had its worst flood. It came almost without warning at a time when many people were attending church services. Water poured into the lower part of the city into homes and buildings. People attending the services in St. Stephen's church on Duhon Street and the Methodist church on Ottawa Street, had to stand on the pews to keep their heads above water.

It rained so fast inside the churches. Many had to stay there all night, standing in the icy water, without lights which had been put out of commission. To make matters worse, the temperature dropped suddenly, and there was a blizzard. Some people managed to get boats, rowed into the churches, and rescued members of the congregations. The next day rowboats operated as taxis between St. James street and Beaver Hall Hill.

The Grand Trunk Railway line was covered by four feet of water as far as the Victoria Bridge. The Victoria Bridge was closed by Edward, Prince of Wales, the previous year. There was some fear for its safety even though it was regarded as one of the wonders of the world.

OTHER EVENTS ON APRIL 14:

- 1820 Voluntary commutation of lands held under seigniorial tenure.
- 1849 Charter granted Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B.
- 1851 Britain disallowed Hunka currency regulations.
- 1892 Windsor, Ontario, got city charter.
- 1896 House of Commons decided on Manitoba separation — school-remedial bill.
- 1928 Famous Russell House Hotel, Ottawa, destroyed by fire.

The Vernon Canadians fight their way through the Allan Cup hockey finals. They won the Patton Cup by defeating the Winnipeg Maroons 7-5 in Vernon, coming from behind to win. Brian Roche scored his first goal playing in a Vernon uniform. Vernon will now meet the eastern winners.

20 YEARS AGO

April 1946

Tenders have been called for a second ferry, and construction will start as soon as possible, states Hon. Herbert Ancombe, in a letter to the Kelowna Board of Trade. The sister ship to the Pendozi is expected to cost $200,000. This will eliminate danger of a tie-up, should the Pendozi develop engine trouble.

30 YEARS AGO

April 1936

"Finis" was written to the basketball season when the Tyroner Church team defeated the Kelowna Boy Scouts team in the provincial junior boys division final in the Scout Hall, 24-18. The Orchard City's only chance of a provincial championship this season went glimmering.

40 YEARS AGO

April 1926

Sir Thomas Lipton is said to be planning to build another ship to compete for the America Cup. Sir Thomas has provided in his will that if he fails to lift the cup during his lifetime the struggle will be continued on afterwards. He is now 75 years of age.

50 YEARS AGO

April 1916

At the suggestion of Alderman Rattenbury, the city council decided to set aside April 27 as "Clean Up Day", and efforts will be made to have citizens clean up their properties, and to pay the city scavenger to gather up the rubbish collected. After that date the provisions of the health bylaw would be strictly enforced.

"The Passing Throng," per S.S. Aberdeen: Mrs. Cameron and son returned from a visit to the Old Country. Mr. John Dilworth returned from a trip to Manitoba. Mr. O. H. Pollard of Peachland passed through on his way to Vernon.

In Passing

A theorist is a person who buys a book on "How to Swim," studies it carefully, then jumps into the river to swim across it—and drowns.

Women who boast that they are the equals of men have precious little to brag about.

"A lot of folks are trying to guess what the world will be like by the year 2000," said "Old" Sorehead. "If it keeps heading the way it's going now, it'll be like a madhouse."

There must be a tacit agreement that those who are admitted to studio audiences agree to applaud all performances, however poor they may be.

Of the many scores of remedies for the common cold, liquor is probably the most popular and most pleasant to take.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Diet Not Cure-All But Watch Your Food

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: Four months ago I had hemiparesis caused by thrombosis in an artery. I was told that this was a warning. What would you recommend as a good diet?—A.P.H.

Hemiparesis (muscular weakness on one side of the body) is a warning, all right. Expecting a good diet to be a solution to the problem is oversimplifying things.

You've been put on warning to do what you can to prevent another episode.

There isn't any magic diet that will prevent clogging of an artery. You can, however, make certain changes which will help. You have to know what you are trying to do, and you need your doctor's guidance.

If your blood pressure is unduly high, your doctor may restrict your salt intake—"put you on a low-salt diet," as it is often phrased. This means not using ordinary salt on your food (or of using salt substitutes) and avoiding all salty foods: Pickles, sausage, salted meat of all kinds, potato chips, salted fish. If you are overweight, that increases your danger substantially. The proper course is obvious: Reduce.

If your blood cholesterol level (a gauge of blood lipids or fats) is high, avoiding saturated fats is helpful. This, in general means those that are solid at room temperature: Fat in meat, lard, butter, instead, substitute vegetable fats and oils.

There isn't any single food or diet that is good for preventing strokes. The proper diet is just a well-balanced one, plus taking into consideration the elements mentioned above.

Strokes result from combination of conditions: Arteries that have become partially clogged with fatty deposits; weakness of an artery at some strategic point; high blood pressure. Really, your goal, is to put your arteries and circulation in as good a shape as possible. To the extent that proper diet can influence your weight (and hence your blood pressure), and can prevent overloading your tissues with fats, it can be important to you.

But don't be misled by any idea that eating some particular food will solve your problem. It just isn't that simple.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 88—and sleeps from 10 to 12 hours a night. Is this normal? He is a salesman with no strenuous work. His only activity is occasionally cutting the grass. He has always slept like this. The kids see him only in prone position.—MRS. C.C.

There is considerable variation in people's sleep requirements. Some need more, some less. I hope that he has a physical examination to consider the possibility of some fatigue-producing condition such as anemia, low thyroid activity or chronic infection.

If he awakes full of get-up-and-go, he may be one of the people who needs more sleep than the rest of us. If he just drowns and gets up groggy, he may be lying abed longer than he needs from sheer habit. Or is he just bored?

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes enlargement of the bone at the base of the neck? I have some pains around it.—MRS. M.K.

I'd prefer to know exactly which bone you mean. However, there are seven bones in the neck portion of the spine and the seventh (lowest) is the one most likely to show some prominence from poor posture or stooping as we grow older. It may, in fact, become quite prominent, especially in lean persons. But there is nothing to do about it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Four of my fingernails are becoming white and dormant, and separating from the skin gradually towards the bottom of the nails. The nails are not thin and weak; they are tough as iron. Can you help me?—J. C.

Only to the extent of suggesting possibilities. The whiteness is doubtless due to failure of certain chemical changes to take place in the nail substance. Injury to the nails is one possibility; so is exposure to various chemicals. Do you come in contact with any in your work or hobbies? Disturbances of the liver or thyroid can be involved. The condition also can be hereditary.

With so many varied possibilities I think your best course is to consult a dermatologist.

NOTE TO MISS G.G.: These brown spots have been called "liver spots" for generations, but they actually have nothing to do with the liver. It is the appearance of pigment in the skin which occurs in varying degree as the years pass.

Westbankers Have Many Easter Holiday Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harding and family, from Calgary motored to the Okanagan for the holiday weekend, visiting relatives in Kelowna and Westbank. In Westbank they were the guests of Mrs. Harding's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram. Motoring home Monday they were accompanied by Mrs. Ingram, who will spend a week in the prairie city.

Also motoring from Calgary for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Ingram, who were guests of Mr. Ingram's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram, and of Mrs. Ingram's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wetton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dobbin, and small son, Douglas, were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Dobbin. On Monday they motored to Osoyoos, to visit Mrs. Dobbin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lundin.

Brian Drought was another weekend visitor from Alberta, and was accompanied from Calgary by Miss Sandi Twissman. While here they were guests of their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Drought, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McGaw.

Mr. and Mrs. McGaw enjoyed a visit during the holiday from Mrs. Vera Sayers, of West Vancouver, who renewed friendships while in the area. On Saturday Mrs. Sayers and Mrs. McGaw drove to Kamloops where they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weinard.

SWINGING PARTNERS

By M.J.L.

Saturday night was party night in the Westbank Community Hall where the Westside Squares were the hosts. Frank Barker of Penticton called the dance and a buffet supper was provided.

Saturday, April 14, and again just one party night in the Valley. The Twinklers Square Dance Club will host their party night in the Westfield Community Hall with George Brown of Trail calling the dance, refreshments will be provided and all square dancers are welcome.

Monday, April 18, is the Wheel-N-Stars party night and it will be held in the Summerland Youth Centre with Ray Landeneau of Wash., calling and refreshments will be provided. This will be an intermediate level dance.

Glancing to the 23rd and again two party nights in the Valley. The Starbusters and the Oso-Popos will jointly host their dance in the new Civic Centre in Vernon. In Oliver the Frontier Twinklers will host their party in the Community Hall, full details on these dances next week.

More results on the annual meetings — The Callers-Teachers Association for the Okanagan Valley held their election recently with the new president being elected, Chuck Lugin of Peachland, new vice-president, Ches Larson of Kelowna and the secretary-treasurer is again Phyllis Scott from Oliver.

The Okanagan Square Dance Association also held their election, these are the delegates from all the Valley clubs who belong to the association. The new president is Bill Johnson of Kelowna and the new vice-president is Fred Sloc of Kelowna, with the secretary-treasurer being Mary Lamb of Penticton.

The Kelowna Wagon Wheelers also held their election recently with the following results: president, Mrs. Mike Scherer; vice-president, Fred Sloc, secretary, Evelyn Searos; treasurer, Bob Liberson; delegates, Bob and Kay Morris with alternates being Barney and Trudy McIver.

Next week, the Twinklers election and any others that come in. 'Til then, happy square dancing.

ANN LANDERS

Men Don't Always Want Everything They Demand

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago my husband brought a trampy-looking girl to the house, introduced her as the woman he wanted to marry and asked for a divorce. I managed to keep my composure although I thought I would die right then and there. I agreed to a divorce and they left.

The next day my husband came back with his clothes, kissed the children goodbye and said I'd be hearing from his lawyer. I received no call.

In a week my husband was back — furious. He said I had let him down. He was shocked that I agreed to the divorce. He insisted he gave me all sorts of signals to say "No" in front of the girl. Now he is begging to come home. He promises never to fail me again.

The children love their dad and need him, but I can't get over the hurt and humiliation. If he could do such a terrible thing once, why couldn't he do it again? I need your counsel.

Dear Not: Your husband sounds like a four-dim, brass-plated heel, but give him another chance.

And let this be a lesson to you, students. Men, like children, don't want everything they ask for.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school junior who thinks there must be something drastically wrong with me. I am so envious of everyone I can hardly stand it. Although I get good grades and have won many honors I still get green when something good happens to my friends.

Yesterday my best friend won an essay contest. I couldn't have won it because I didn't even enter but when I heard she had won I was awfully unhappy. Naturally, I put on a

Both, as it turns out. The dog is really a 35-inch Great Dane named Boston Mark and inch midjet horse. The two met for a picture at the Muhl Shrine Circus in Miami recently.

When They're In Doubt One Man Comes To Mind

WASHINGTON (CP) — When the nation's peace efforts in London, Saigon, Cairo or Hanoi falter, President Johnson usually says, "Send Averell."

And Averell Harriman, his trouble-shooting credentials unmatched for access to world leaders, usually sends another yet.

Harriman is the United States ambassador at large. At age 74, and with no sign he plans to retire, he is a Washington phenomenon on more counts than simple durability.

He has held more senior jobs in business, politics and government than anybody else still active here. State Secretary Dean Rusk says that "makes him Mr. America in dealing with the rest of the world."

In those dealings, Harriman is of course a firm champion of American foreign policy—a man who states the case and takes back the response, usually with his own considerable evaluation.

The New York-born son of a railway millionaire, educated at Yale, arrived here in 1933 after making his own mark in business and finance. He came to be known as "Franklin's Delano" Roosevelt launch the New Deal.

Today, he is regarded as possessing more first-hand information about major events of the last 30 years than any other single individual—from the wartime conferences of Quebec, Yalta and Potsdam he attended, through harsh dealings with Joseph Stalin, to the latest American peace feelers in the war in Viet Nam.

HAS BLUNT STYLE

In those years, Harriman has adopted a frankness of approach in diplomatic dealings—somewhat unusual—that despite his capitalistic background, seems to pay off with communists.

Harriman probably will be remembered best by history for negotiating with Moscow and London the 1963 partial test-ban treaty on nuclear weapons. Nobody else in the state department of that day is felt to have been anxious to risk seemingly certain defeat on the issue but Harriman pressed ahead, and it paid off.

Last summer, acting perhaps on his own initiative, he took a "vacation" trip to Moscow which, it was found later, was paid for by the government anyway. Harriman had the first senior American contact with new Premier Alexei Kosygin and apparently helped ensure, at a time when Russia was caught in a bind between China and the Viet Nam war, that neither the U.S. nor the Soviet Union would stumble into a crisis over Viet Nam.

"In dealing with the Russian, I stick to the facts," Harriman has said.

He can be brusque elsewhere, too. One former colleague has affectionately called him "The Crocodile" because, he says, Harriman prefers to demolish an argument in one bite.

Harriman's foreign schedule is relatively quiet right now. His next scheduled trip is to Toronto April 19 to address the annual dinner of the Canadian Press.

He was on the road as 1965 dawned—carrying Johnson's Christmas peace offensive on Viet Nam from Poland to Yugoslavia, Pakistan, India, Iran, the United Arab Republic, Japan, Laos and Thailand.

That took more than two weeks. Less than a month later, he was off again with Vice-President Hubert Humphrey on another nine-country, 43,000-mile, two-week tour dealing with Viet Nam.

"It is as indefensible for a man who has capital not to apply himself to using it in a way that will be of the most benefit to the country, as it is for a laborer to refuse to work," Harriman has said in spurning any idea of retiring.

"It is the duty of everyone, rich or poor, to work. I love work. I cannot see how anyone can prefer to be idle."

Harriman still stands tall despite a long-established stoop. His features remain handsome and he has a full head of iron-grey hair, plus a friendly air which hides some basic shyness. For all his exposure and experience, Harriman still lacks some of the platform polish one might otherwise expect.

After government work for Roosevelt here before the Second World War, Harriman served as a foreign-affairs adviser to Roosevelt and then to Truman. He accompanied the late Lord Beaverbrook to Moscow in 1941 to gauge the Russian need for aid. He became ambassador there in 1943, and moved to London as ambassador in 1945.

Harriman has said one of his unquenchable memories is of London when Britain stood alone. He has credited Sir Winston Churchill and Truman with some of his bluntness of phrase on occasion—and perhaps Stalin, too.

Harriman, like Churchill, says he found dealing with Stalin the toughest job he ever had. He has recalled a U.S. colleague breaking up one session because he felt Harriman and Stalin were coming to blows.

"I told him that was just the usual way we always talked," Harriman recalls.

He became U.S. commerce secretary in 1946 when Truman split with Henry Wallace. There was a series of senior positions in foreign aid, and Harriman tentatively sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952, bowing out to Adlai Stevenson.

He was elected governor of New York state in 1954, added again at the presidential nomination in 1956, and was defeated for the governorship in 1958.

WORKED FOR KENNEDY In 1960, as a solid supporter of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, he came back to the state department.

ment and President Johnson has kept him there in a variety of roles from specialist on Asia, then Africa, then at large.

Reporters on his last big trip with Humphrey through Asia recall Harriman as an old-pro jet traveller quick to don baggy old clothes, relax and take 40 winks between capitals.

He stuck right with the fast-moving Humphrey through Punjab grain fields to Saigon's humidity and the near-zero temperatures of Seoul in South Korea.

"He usually stayed in the background," one reporter recalls. "But if Humphrey or anybody else said something that Harriman felt was incorrect or needed elaboration, he grabbed the mike."

He had fast recuperative powers, too. Harriman, who likes an occasional scotch and smokes cigarettes, follows with his wife a busy life in the Washington cocktail-party circuit. One relaxation for a man who once rowed and played a good game of polo: Watching football on television.

Woman Driven From Band Results In Murder Charge

SPENCE BAY, N.W.T. (CP) — Two young Eskimo men were to be arraigned here Thursday on a joint charge of capital murder in the fatal shooting of an Eskimo woman.

The woman, Sosee, about 40, allegedly was shot July 15 during an attempt to drive her away from a nomadic Eskimo band of which she was a member.

Members of the band claim the woman was mentally ill and her actions—damaging tents and throwing rocks—threatened the welfare of the entire band.

Charged with Sosee's murder are Isoshee Shoooyok, about 21, and Aiyasoot, also about 21, the woman's son.

Sosee was the wife of the headman of the band of about 20 Eskimos hunting and living under primitive conditions in this remote, desolate area.

Sosee was shot at Fort Ross, 172 miles north of here on Booth Peninsula, which juts out into the Arctic Ocean far to the north of the Manitoba-Ontario border and divides the Arctic mainland coast approximately into western and eastern halves.

Fort Ross is 1,250 miles northeast of Edmonton and Spence Bay 1,200 miles north-east of Edmonton.

A jury of six, including some Eskimos, is to be chosen from communities in this part of the Arctic, including Cambridge Bay to the southwest on Victoria Island.

Conducting the trial will be Judge John H. Sissons of the Northwest Territories Territorial Court. The Eskimos call Judge Sissons Ertoktooyee, which means "the man who listens."

He was appointed the first justice of the court in 1954.

When RCMP first heard about Sosee's death two months after it occurred, they charged Shoooyok with capital murder. A preliminary hearing was held and he was committed for trial.

Subsequently, a stay of proceedings was entered and a joint trial was entered and a joint charge was laid against Shoooyok and Aiyasoot.

The two men have not been in custody.

SNOW IS DEEP This part of Canada still is deep in winter. The Arctic Ocean is frozen over and snow lies deep on the ground.

Spence Bay is a small community established in about 1935 as a Hudson's Bay post. The bay is suitable for use as a harbor by small supply boats.

There are police, church and school buildings here.

Prosecutor in the murder trial is David H. Searle of Yellowknife. Defence counsel are William Morrow and H. L. Irving of Edmonton.

Koufax Takes Early Shower Giants Win Second Straight

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax must have had a stage fright. What else could account for his tumbling performance in his first start of the 1966 baseball season?

Koufax, who ended his 13-day bout and his move career at the same time two weeks ago, was battered from the mound in the fourth inning Wednesday night in Houston Astros' 7-4 victory over Los Angeles Dodgers.

The left-hander, a 26-year-old pitcher, gathered in the first inning, but then he was not so good. He gave up five runs on five hits and walked two batters. He was around long enough only to pitch to one batter in the fourth inning.

Although Koufax encountered a few such games last season, he never made an error. He did against the Astros, though, and that's what got him off the stage.

After Sonny Jackson beat out an infield single with one out in the third inning, Jim Wynn grounded to the mound. Koufax fumbled the ball and the Astros had two runners on.

Dave Nicholson struck out for what would have been the third out, then Bob Applegate singled for one run and Joe Morgan walked a homer for three more.

TRIPLE RETIRES HIM
Koufax finally retired the side only to have John Bateman lead off the next inning with a triple and retire Koufax.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh Pirates won five runs on five hits and walked two batters to defeat Chicago Cubs 6-0. San Francisco Giants defeated Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 and Philadelphia Phillies won 3-2 in 12 innings. Ramon Lirio pitched for the Mets at Curran for the third straight day.

After Morgan's homer gave the Astros a 3-3 lead, John Roseboro tied it with a two-run homer. The Astros finally won in the ninth when Chuck Harrison singled, was sacrificed to second and raced home on Rusty Staub's single.

Vernon Law and Bob Bolin pitched four-innings and didn't walk anyone in the Pirates' and Giants' victories.

Law stopped Atlanta while Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each hit two-run homers. Stargell added two other hits and drove in another run.

Bolin allowed the Cubs to get more than one man on base only once. The Giants put the game away with three runs in the third inning, two on Tito Fuentes' single.

John Herrstein's pinch-hit, run-scoring single in the 12th inning carried Philadelphia past St. Louis. Rick Allen singled with two out and stole second before Herrstein singled.

NO DECISION

Bobby Dobbs, leading candidate for the Army football coaching job, headed back to Texas Western Wednesday after further talks with West Point officials.

Nothing was decided. "Things still are in the discussion stage," Dobbs said. "I'm a former Army back who coached Texas Western to an 8-3 record last year. He has four years to go on his contract there. He was head coach of Calgary Stampede of the Western Conference from 1960 to 1964."

Big Guns Gathering In Vegas For Tournament Of Champions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—It's an all-star cast that includes current U.S. Open champion Gary Player and PGA Tour star Tom Weiskopf. The tournament of champions gets under way today.

As the select field of 26 professionals took final practice swings Wednesday, the nation's golf picture switched from the Masters at Augusta, Ga., where it also has been a Nicklaus-Palmer show for the past few years.

The $100,000 Tournament of Champions may prove another dramatic after Monday's finale in the Masters, but there is still a slight matter of $20,000 awaiting the winner when the 72-hole play concludes Sunday.

Palmer won this tournament last year and, for the first time, in 1962. Nicklaus was the 1963-64 winner.

The field is limited to pros who have captured one or more PGA tournaments in the preceding year. Play is at the 1,200-yard, par 72 Desert Inn Country Club layout.

Orioles Demolitioners Get Right Down To Work

By RALPH BOKK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore Orioles are doing the Robinson Rona, a swinging new step that could make a lot of American League pitchers look like monkeys before this season is over.

It's really a simple step. First Frank Robinson works over an opposing pitcher. If the hurler still shows any signs of fight, Brooks Robinson steps in and launches the job.

The Robinson boys demonstrated against Boston Red Sox Wednesday as the Orioles completed a two-game sweep 1-0 in the only other American League game played. Minnesota Twins used an eighth inning home run by Tony Oliva to get past Kansas City Athletics 5-3. Rain and cold weather postponed Cleveland Indians' game at Washington and Detroit Tigers' date at New York.

The Robinsons practiced their thunder and lightning routine on Dave Morehead after the Red Sox starter had struck out the first two batters. Then Frank Robinson hit his second homer of the season and Brooks followed with his No. 2.

That was enough for Jim Palmer, who limited the Sox to five hits and walked one in the only other American

London Flight Possibility

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An agency for Cassius Clay, Louisville's boxing star, said Wednesday there is a good chance the heavyweight champion will fight Henry Cooper in London next month.

Gordon B. Davidson said arrangements for the fight might be completed within 10 days. The date of the fight likely would be May 21, Davidson said.

Permission for Clay to fight must be cleared with his draft board. As of now Clay is expected to be called to active duty in late May.

The Clay-Cooper fight could be held in the outdoor stadium of Arsenal, a soccer club in England, which said earlier Wednesday its stadium would be available for the bout.

British promoter Harry Levene said he would guarantee Clay $200,000 to defend his title against Cooper, the British champion.

Davidson said Clay has been offered $250,000 plus expenses for the fight.

Kansas City had taken advantage of some shoddy Minnesota fielding for two runs against starter Camilo Pascual in the fourth. Ken Harrison singled and came all the way around on Ed Charles' hit when Harmon Killebrew let a throw from the outfield skip past him. Charles then stole third and scored when Earl Battey's throw went into left field.

Valdespino had connected with a mate aboard for Minnesota's first two runs in the first inning.

Baseball Owners Tongue Tied After Wisconsin Judgment

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Major league executives were busy today digesting Judge Elmer Riffe's decision that either the National League provides Milwaukee with a new franchise for 1967 by May 16 or the Braves must return to Wisconsin.

Calvin Griffith, president of Milwaukee Braves, said: "There are no many facets to this thing, that it's pretty hard to say this is it. It most likely will finally end up in the United States Supreme Court."

Baseball commissioner William D. Eckert said Wednesday night: "I have no comment now. I will take it under advisement and make a comment tomorrow."

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said: "I'd have to read the whole decision."

Integration Has Hurt
Says Former Member

CALGARY (CP)—Integration of the Canadian armed forces has resulted in a disruption and decline in the services' morale, Douglas Harkness, former Conservative defence minister, said Tuesday night.

The problem is most prevalent in the navy so that it is impossible for Canada to maintain her ships and put them out to sea, Mr. Harkness said.

The Conservative MP for Calgary North told a meeting of his constituency's Conservative association:

"A large proportion of chief petty and petty officers and other highly-trained (navy) personnel have been refusing to re-engage due to the fact that they are unsure of what the future may be."

and talk with the lawyers before making any statement."

In Atlanta, Bill Bartholomay, chairman of the board of the Braves, refused immediate comment.

The Milwaukee Sentinel quoted Walter O'Malley, president of Los Angeles Dodgers, as saying: "It seems utterly impossible to comply with the court's decision, but we'll be guided by the lawyers who have represented us in the litigation."

Willard S. Stafford, head of the task force of Wisconsin lawyers who argued the case for the state, said he was delighted with the decision.

Stafford foresees a rousing welcome from Milwaukee fans if the Braves return to Wisconsin.

"I think this trial has purged the ill feeling of the average fan," the lawyer said. "One thing is sure, we can do better than that 10,000 attendance on the second night."

He referred to the 12,721 fans the Braves drew to their second game in Atlanta Wednesday.

Attorney-General Bronson La Follette of Wisconsin had no ready answer for enforcement of any state contempt action that might arise if the court order was ignored.

"It's premature to speculate on what course of action we would take if other states didn't cooperate on any contempt actions," said La Follette.

Auto dealer Allen H. (Bud) Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club, Inc., which was turned down last December in its request for a 1966 expansion team, said: "We are ready, willing and able to begin immediately the active running of a Milwaukee franchise."

Ottawa's Dairy Policy Best In Recent Years

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, T. R. Cooper, said today that the federal government's new dairy policy is probably the most "progressive" in the 20 years since the federal government became directly involved in dairy farm price support operations.

Mr. Cooper told the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers:

The dairy council which Mr. Cooper heads is the national trade association of Canadian processors and distributors of all dairy products.

Mr. Cooper said that among the reasons which called for a completely new approach to government dairy policy is the fact that for three successive years total domestic consumption of dairy foods and exports had outstripped production.

Milk production has shown no change since 1961. The number of farms with milk cows had declined 35 per cent in the last decade and the dairy herd was at the lowest level in half a century.

"The situation confronting the government, therefore, was that if serious shortages were to be avoided, policy must be devised to halt the decline in the number of efficient dairy farms and stimulate total production to the point needed to meet domestic consumption and retain traditional export markets."

But it was highly unlikely that the increase in producer returns would result in a sufficient increase in milk output this year to avoid the need to import butter next winter.

"Once this becomes clear, no time should be lost by the government to import butter of a type and quantity to meet the demand."

Mr. Cooper said that the two-cent a-pound increase in butter prices would bring the national average price of that product to almost the identical price level which prevailed 15 years ago, during which period average hourly earnings in Canada had doubled.

"Under the circumstances I do not foresee any justification for serious consumer resistance to the moderate increase under the new federal policy, particularly in this era of unprecedented consumer affluence."

He said that in his view one of the most beneficial features of the new program is its flexibility.

"If, for example, the consumption patterns for dairy foods show any serious decline, price adjustments can and must be made."

History Of Famed Tenants At Quebec's Kent House

MONTREAL (CP)—What do Queen Victoria's father, the French governor who surrendered Quebec to the English and the first Anglican Bishop of Quebec have in common?

They all, at some point, lived in one of Quebec's oldest houses—a building whose list of tenants reads like a Who's Who of Quebec history.

Kent House, on the corner of St. Louis and Haldimand streets, was built in 1699 by Louis D'Ailleboust, the third governor of New France.

Théodore Chartier de Lotbinière, civil and criminal lieutenant for the city, Jean Mailhot, architect and contractor of the king, bought it in 1713 and lived in it for 40 years.

The next owner was the commandant of the Quebec garrison, Jean Baptiste Nicolas Roch de Ramezay. Four days after the battle of the Plains of Abraham he signed the capitulation of the city.

After de Ramezay returned to France the house was sold to a British merchant. In 1777 title passed to Adam Matane, a Scot who came to Canada as a surgeon's mate in Wolfe's expedition.

In 1781 he leased it to Edward, Duke of Kent, the fourth son of George III and father of Queen Victoria. Edward, then 25 and commanding the 5th Fusiliers, lived for three years in the house which from then on was known by his name.

One of the first tenants after Edward returned to England was Rev. Jacob Mountain, first Anglican Bishop of Quebec and father of the first principal of McGill University.

Supreme Court Justice Jean Thomas Taschereau and his son, Sir Henri Thomas Taschereau of the Court of Queen's Bench, were among its 19th-century tenants.

The building entered a somewhat less glorious phase of its history in 1919 when it was purchased for use as an office building. Today it belongs to Domtar Newsprint Ltd.

From the outside, Kent House looks almost the same today as it did 315 years ago; the only change has been the removal of one of the two entrances. But the interior of the building has been altered radically by one of the firms which uses it as an office.

PAID FOR PRISON
KAMPALA (AP)—Five dismissed Ugandan cabinet ministers are to be paid $1,500 each for a day spent illegally in prison. They were arrested the day before warrants were issued for them. The five, dismissed when Premier Milton Obote seized supreme power, now have to show cause why they should not be deported.

Viet Nam War May Sway Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the U.S. Congress are watching the political turmoil in South Viet Nam for developments that could have a massive impact on this fall's congressional elections.

All 435 seats in the House of Representatives will be contested next November while 33 of the 100 Senate seats are at stake. House members serve two years, senators six. Both houses of Congress now are heavily Democratic.

The possible replacement of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government by a Buddhist-dominated civilian regime that might deal with the Viet Cong could compromise the U.S. position in Asia.

The development of a situation in which a new government might ask the withdrawal of U.S. troops would dump into President Johnson's lap a crisis for which there could be no happy solution.

The division of opinion on whether to get out in such circumstances would be likely to produce a political uproar in the United States far greater than any thus far.

WERE INVITED

The Johnson line has been that the United States is in Viet Nam at the invitation of its government to prevent the Communists from overrunning free peoples.

This policy will have to be swallowed whole in any forced pull-out.

To stay against the wishes of a Saigon government would be to invite thunderous world disapproval, fed by propaganda that the United States is as imperialist as the Communists have been saying.

If a civilian government arranged a ceasefire with the Viet Cong, it probably would have to be observed by the United States. If the Buddhist arranged elections are held in South Viet Nam, the United States is honor-bound to accept the results.

If there are peace talks, the United States would be hard-pressed to prevent the presence of the Viet Cong at the conference table as a full participant.

Two-Headed Snake Blinds B.C. Chief

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—The slow growth of a cataract has been sealing the eyes of Chief August Jack Khahashahano ever since he looked upon the legendary two-headed snake far back in the mountains.

Chief August Jack, one of the last great tribal dancers of the Pacific Coast, has been a man of the mountains for more than half a century and says it is only fitting he should have met his fate high above the treeline.

Sitting in his warm cottage in the valley of the Squamish about 40 miles north of Vancouver, he said he will never see well enough again to return to the mountains.

"I have had the best doctors working on me but they can't do anything after you have seen the snake," he said.

"They removed the cataract several years ago but it is growing right back in again. It is the snake that made me blind."

He had lived half his life before the people of Musqueam decided he should be a dancer and put him to the ritual trial by ordeal.

"The people come upon you from all around in such great numbers that you faint," he said.

"Then they put you in a cage and leave you there unconscious for four days. After that they put you in the corner and pour eight buckets of hot and cold water over you."

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Carl

HERE ARE a couple of stories told on a "cowboy" TV program within the past fortnight, and though they date all the way back to either Joe Miller or his father, they still were good for non-so-and-track laughs:

1. Poker game in a saloon, known "Wild West saloon." Seven participants, including the sheriff. One shifty-eyed player—the sole winner at the table—has only one eye. Sheriff lays his pearl-handled six-shooter on the table, deals and announces, "Ets I catch any so and so cheating on this hand, I'll shoot his other eye out!"

2. Wondered the parson, "Whatever can have become of Three-Finger Mulvaney?" Spoke up a bar fly, "I got an idea, Parson. He came to town last Saturday, got lickered up, stuck his head out of a second-story window, and hollered 'Fire.' I reckon a couple of the boys took him at his word."

'Sea Devil' With A Heart Count Von Luckner Dies

MALMOE, Sweden (CP-AP)—Count Felix von Luckner, who sank 14 Allied ships in the First World War without taking a ship aboard, died at 84.

Von Luckner's death Wednesday of an undisclosed illness ended a life of gallantry and daring that earned him fame as the Sea Devil.

During the war he commanded an innocent-looking windjammer that carried concealed guns and a powerful motor. Masquerading as a Norwegian freighter, von Luckner's Sea Eagle scouted 220 miles north of Allied ships, but he took their crews and even their pets—old first and looked after them until he could put them ashore.

"I broke the British blockade with a clear conscience," he said. "No mother, wife, child or father lost a tear."

The Sea Eagle's conquests resulted from sheer boldness and deception, for the raider was equipped with no torpedoes and only light arms. A formidable-looking cannon was mounted on deck, but it was merely a wooden dummy.

Von Luckner's strategy was to fly a neutral flag on sighting a prospective prize. Signal flags which meant "I have something to tell you" were raised. When the prey drew close, the German flag was raised, and the "raider" was exposed and von Luckner, using a megaphone, announced the ship's position. Then his sailors would board the merchantman, ready for action if resistance developed.

Crews were removed to the Sea Eagle before the merchantmen were sunk and had practically the status of guests.

After sailing 35,000 miles, the Sea Eagle was wrecked on the South Sea coast in August, 1917. Von Luckner and five of his crew sailed a lifeboat loaded with ammunition for 46 days to the Fiji Islands, where they and some temporary citizenships hoped to secure another ship. Instead, a British police officer and several native policemen captured them.

The British sent him to New Zealand, but he escaped in a dingy and fled to Germany during the Second World War. After South Sea coast in August, 1917. Kenya's Vice-President Resigns Disillusioned With Guiding Star

NAIROBI (Reuters)—Vice-President Oginga Odinga of Kenya, stormy leftist politician accused of favoring Communism for this two-year-old African state, today announced his resignation from the government.

Odinga, 51, also announced his resignation from the ruling Kenya African National Union.

Kenya's only political party, Odinga declined to say if he would form another party. Reports circulating here last month suggested he might support such a move.

Odinga recently lost his post as vice-president of KANU. He said today: "My honest opinion is that the present government has reached a point of no return. It can only do for the people the little that the undisciplined master allows it to do."

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

There are a handful of delicate little touches in bridge which you have to get the most out of your cards.

For example, there is the convention known as the trump echo. When the proper circumstances arise, this not-well-known convention is worth its weight in gold.

South is in four hearts and West leads a singleton diamond. East takes the ace and returns the deuce. West ruffing the diamond with the five. West returns the five. West returns the five.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Mild planetary influences should make Friday another more or less routine day. Don't engage in unfamiliar undertakings and, for the time being, put off the launching of long-range plans. Some surprising news in the P.M. could prove most heartening, however.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you are currently in a cycle which will be unusually propitious for work involving inspiration and originality — but which so many Aries excel. This does not mean that creative workers will experience a series of dramatic successes but, rather, that by capitalizing on their talents and trying to maintain a reasonable pace in their endeavors, they can, by year's end, be certain of recognition toward which they aim. Their best periods, inspiring for travel: mid-June, late August and early September, and June, August and next February.

Those in other careers will be governed by good planetary influences during the first 17 and unusual artistic gifts.

days of July, throughout September, the first week of October, mid-November, late December and all of next March. For all: Best cycles for financial matters: The days between the 20th of this month and May 15th, the last two weeks of July, the periods between September 15th and October 8th and between October 29th and November 15th. It would be wise to consolidate all gains then, and prepare for an excellent 3-month cycle for fiscal expansion beginning on February 1, 1967.

Personal interests should prosper during most of the year ahead but, unless you determine to avoid it, you may experience some friction in close circles in late June, the second week of September, in mid-October and mid-December. Best periods for romance: May, August and next January; for travel: mid-June, late August and early September, and the month between December 15th and January 15th.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine mind and unusual artistic gifts.

PUBLIC NEEDS SELLING RED DEER, Alta. (CP) - One of the most difficult phases of civil defence is selling the public on the idea that survival is possible in a major war, says Jack Day of the Alberta Emergency Measures Organization. He told an EMO conference here that people can survive the first 48 hours of fallout outside a fallout shelter.

Canadian Membership Claimed In Mail Order Sex Club

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - A Fulton County grand jury has indicted five persons, including two married couples, on charges growing out of a mail order sex club operation that extended into Canada. More indictments are expected.

The indictments, returned after the grand jury had called a dozen witnesses, including some members of the sex club, involved Don and Betty Gilmore, William and Jerry Breeds, and Robert H. Campbell.

One indictment against the Gilmores said the club franchises are operating in New York, Chicago and Dallas. The grand jury's report also noted the arrest of an Orlando, Fla. couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Langbein, and said they paid the Gilmores $4,000 for a franchise.

The Gilmores alleged owners of the mail order operation known as Club Rebel, were indicted on five counts of sodomy, fornication and adultery and their bonds set at $5,000 each.

Glenn Zell, counsel for the couple, said the Gilmores will surrender to authorities today, and that bond has been arranged. He said the couple intended to fight the charges and "appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Indictments charged the Breeds with sodomy, fornication and adultery and set their bonds at $1,500 each. The couple were identified by the indictments as being consultants to the sex club and authors of several books. The report said two of the books - "Wide Swapping, the New Sex Revolution" and "Swamp Clubs" - were set in a raid on Club Rebel last month.

Campbell was identified as a free lance photographer and charged with possessing obscene matter. His bond was set at $1,500.

The indictments said Club Rebel published a monthly magazine, "The Rebel," which catered to persons interested in homosexuality, lesbianism, water swapping, sadism and masochism.

OTTAWA (CP) - Prime Minister Pearson and two Americans are the 1966 winners of Atlantic Union Pioneer awards for leadership towards North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries into a federal union.

Mr. Pearson will deliver the main address at a June 11 banquet in Springfield, Ill., marking the awards presentation.

The awards themselves will be presented to the Liberal leader, Christian Herter, former U.S. secretary of state and posthumously to Adlai Stevenson, a village near Springfield where Abraham Lincoln once lived.

Mr. Stevenson's son will accept the award for his father, who died last year while U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The awards are sponsored by the Federal Union Incorporated, an organization which seeks to make NATO's eventual goal the transformation of the alliance into a federal union.

FREE BERTHOYS HOTEL

HAWK JUNCTION, Ont. (CP) - The three-story Hawk Junction Hotel, scene of many a Saturday night get-together for the railway and lumbering men of this district 150 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie, burned to the ground Tuesday.

Owner George Stenne, his wife and 13 boarders escaped in their night attire minutes after the wooden structure burst into flames. The owner estimated the loss at $80,000.

WHILE PARADING FOR PEACE . . .

The traditional British Easter parade, which started in High Wycombe about 80 miles south of London Saturday, reached Trafalgar Square Monday on schedule but with some unexpected twists.

Along London's main thoroughfare, the parade was held in a series of demonstrations.

Kensington Gore, the police chief, said the parade was held in a series of demonstrations.

March in Trafalgar Square two Americans joined the demonstrators in an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration.

How To Become Province Ask The Native Residents

OTTAWA (CP) — It was a golden opportunity to pour out their sorrows and complaints and Eskimos and Indians took full advantage of it.

The idea behind the public hearings in the Northwest Territories of the advisory commission on the development of northern government was to get opinions from residents on how to put the North on the road to becoming a province or provinces.

But the natives wanted to speak of other things — of poor hunting and the low price of skins, for example. Could a subsidy be placed on fur as on fish, a subsidy in the north? Should the territorial council be expanded and given more independence? The commission wanted to know. The natives preferred to talk about ways of acquiring decent homes and getting out of the shacks they now live in.

Elected a territorial commissioner rather than be governed by a civil servant living in far-away Ottawa? Eskimos wanted to discuss a school system that renders their children unable to hunt and trap and threatens to wipe out their language.

Try as it might to solicit opinions about evolution of government, the three-man commission headed by A. W. R. Carruthers of London, Ont., found itself day after day listening to a flow of personal judgments that beset the northern natives.

So it's a safe bet the commission will deal with some of these problems along with their main recommendations to cabinet later this year.

"I don't see how we can ignore saying something about them," said commissioner John Parker of Yellowknife, N.W.T.

The other member of the commission is Jean Beetz, a law professor at the University of Montreal.

Established by order-in-council last May, the commission ended its public hearings in March by spending two weeks in the Eastern Arctic. It also visited the territories last summer and held public meetings in Ottawa.

Formation of the commission was prompted by the inability of two governments to get parliamentary approval of a plan to divide the territories. Under the scheme, the Mackenzie was to achieve greater independence while the Eastern Arctic would remain under the care of the federal government.

About two-thirds of the 25,000 persons in the territories live in the west and development there considerably exceeds that in the east.

The 8,000 or so whites in the North clearly spell out their demands that the northern government be moved from Ottawa to the territories, that a greater number of elected members sit on the territorial council, and that the North generally be given more to say in its own affairs.

There also was keen competition among Western Arctic communities for the prize of becoming the N.W.T. capital.

But the basic needs of food, housing and the kind of education their children are getting formed the theme of Eskimo and Indian contributions to the commission.

Scientists Do Part For Hungry Work To Make Wheat Palatable

NEW YORK (AP) — A process which developers say could make wheat palatable to Asia's rice-eating millions — and thus be a partial answer to famine — will be tested in a pilot project beginning this week in Hong Kong.

Wheat kernels are peeled by a live process that makes them look like rice and cook like rice. The purpose of the project is to see whether Asians decide that it tastes like rice.

One of the biggest roadblocks to easing world famine, experts say, is that some people would rather die than change their eating habits.

Millions of rice-eating people in India's Kerala State live on the verge of starvation rather than eat the wheat flowing into their country. Rioting mobs shouted at police: "Give up rice or shoot us!"

Breaking down "food prejudices" is necessary so that people can be fed the food that is available, says Melvin Myers, director of the material resources program of the Church World Service, sponsors of the pilot project.

To make wheat more acceptable to the rice-eating Keralites, the U.S. department of agriculture has come up with the new process to make a rice-like grain from regular wheat, called "world wheat."

The husk is peeled from the kernel by the live process, leaving a white grain much like rice. It can be produced for about five to six cents a pound, and on an operational basis, one company estimates that it could produce 25 tons an hour.

The process was developed at the Western Regional Research Laboratory of the department of agriculture at Albany, Calif. Dr. James Pence, who heads the cereals laboratory, was in New York today to confer with Myers.

"The process also works with rice, producing a higher yield and a grain with more nutritional value," Pence said.

Aussies, U.S. Conclude Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — External Affairs Secretary Paul Hasluck of Australia wound up three days of security talks here today with a pledge of continued support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam and in the containment of China.

"We (Australians) stand with America by our own choice in Southeast Asia," he told a press conference. "Because we believe that America is standing for the things that are right."

He said what now is being decided in South Viet Nam is not only the safety and stability of that country, but the whole future of Asia as well. Hasluck said there will be no delay in sending Australian troop reinforcements to South Viet Nam.

He said what is happening in Southeast Asia is not a regional problem, but a global one.

"We feel that what has to be decided in these critical years is the future shape of Asia," Hasluck said, and added:

Pan Am Orders Boeing 747s

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways Wednesday ordered 25 new 400-passenger jet airliners at a cost of $525,000,000 from the Boeing Co.

The new-type plane will be known as the Boeing 747. Its seating capacity will be 240.

times that of existing aircraft.

A Pan Am spokesman said that use of the huge planes is expected to cut air fares drastically.

The order includes 20 passenger planes and two all-cargo craft.

Deliveries of the sub-sonic craft will begin in September, 1969. It is not to be confused with a supersonic or faster-than-sound aircraft on which Boeing and Lockheed Aircraft have submitted plans to the U.S. government.

It will be powered by a new four-engine turbofan built by Pratt and Whitney Aircraft. Each will deliver 41,000 pounds of thrust, almost twice the power of any jet engine now in airline service.

The 747 will be able to carry 400 passengers in three-class or 374 in second-class and first-class configuration.

The cargo hold, below the main deck, will accommodate 20 containers with a capacity of 16½ tons for baggage, mail and cargo.

Cubans Tired Of Castro Rule Says Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Dem.-Mass.) said yesterday there is "growing disenchantment" in Cuba with Fidel Castro's regime.

And his brother, Senator Robert F. Kennedy (Dem.-N.Y.), urged that the United States be ready to send Cuban refugees back to their homeland "when the time comes."

The Kennedy's testified at a hearing here of the U.S. Senate Judiciary subcommittee on refugees and escapes.

Edward Kennedy said President Castro's troubles are discussed in recent purges, defections and economic difficulties.

He said the U.S. airlift since Dec. 1 has brought more than 14,000 Cubans to join the more than 25,000 refugees who have fled to the United States since 1959. The rate now is 4,000 a month, he said.

Robert Kennedy estimated that at the present rate it would take almost 20 years to accommodate all the Cubans who want to come to the U.S.

But, he said, the flow could be reversed if there were a change in the Cuban government.

"We should be preparing now to facilitate that process for those who want to return when the time comes," Robert said.
